Alice Bethell

Hi! I'm Alice Bethell, your current UEA Ethical Issues Officer. I'm running to be reelected for the role of Ethical Issues Officer so that I can continue the good work I've undertaken since being elected to office. As Ethical Issues Officer, part of my campaign pledged to relocate the Antony Gormley to a more sensitive place on campus. So far in my role, I have been successful in securing the right to campaign for their removal at Union Council and I am currently undertaking the work necessary to make that a reality in the near future. I am also helping to plan events such as University Mental Health Day. If reelected, I will continue to undertake the work I am already doing, as well as move forward with my other campaign promises, such as focusing on anti-spiking measures and reforming the university's therapy system so that it is easier for students to book multiple appointments rather than just singular.
